THE FACULTY

Lockwood is indeed fortunate in having such a capable and helpful faculty to guide its students. We offer to them our most sincere appreciation and thanks for their untiring efforts in our behalf and for their willingness to aid us in many ways during our school life. Their task is never-ending, and without them Lockwood students would not have inculcated in them that sense of loyalty and fine spirit which plays such a prominent part in school life.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The Class of 1940 had the distinction of being the first eighth grade to enter Lockwood, therefore we are the first class to have been here five years. How well we remember that first year way back in 1935 when we entered—a group of timid souls gingerly peeping around corners before we dared to emerge into the corridors. As the year progressed, we gained confidence and walked away with top honors at the Junior Competition plays. The next year we repeated this feat. By this time many of our members had established themselves in the Good Will, Debating Club, General Organization, and various other activities.

As sophomores we watched many of our number distinguish themselves on the athletic teams and some of our girls were elected to the Leaders' Corps. The following year was topped by our Junior Prom, an event long to be remembered.

But the last year was the best of all. Our Senior Play, "You Can't Take It With You", won the acclaim of the community as well as the student body. The Christmas Hop, arranged by the Senior Executive Committee, was an outstanding event. Then followed the Senior Banquet and Ball which will never be forgotten. And last of all, Commencement! The largest class ever to graduate from Lockwood leaves it with many pleasant memories. We wish to show our appreciation to our advisor, Mr. Wedlock, Miss Riley, Miss West, and all of the faculty who so graciously assisted us.

1940 Class Prophecy

YEAR: 1955
SCENE: Somewhere along the country highway, in a broken down, one pump gasoline station, whose owner is James T. Welch, Esq.

A large business truck approaches for gas, and Welch, upon seeing the driver's face, exclaims, "Why, Joe Girard, I haven't seen you since our first class reunion back in '41. My how your waistline has expanded!"

"Well," sighs Joe, "I've been driving for Watkins and Read, the big oatmeal company, for the past 12 years. Al Beron runs the Troy, Worcester line, Fred Tate the East Bicycle, Ipswich line, and after ten years of hard work Paul Coutu was finally promoted to chief shipping clerk last week. Our obstinate president, Vin Corsi, has been General Sales Manager for the past ten years, but he resigned last week to join Robert Boyer, our genial program chairman, in Bolivia to set up a new government called 'Righteousism'. We buy our oats from Matt Jones, the big-little farmer from Iowa. During harvest time he hires Barrett, Therrien, Hildebrand, Darigan, Lyon, Blum and Harding as foremen and the rest of the year they collect social security under the new ruling. Charlie and Hilde are still going to night school for spelling and occasionally they meet Goff Hearn, Ray Hawley's star auto mechanic, who drops in for the same reason, or maybe it's because of the teacher, Miss Richard."

Welch remarks, "Did you see that Jack Flodin is on trial for operating on Eva LaPointe's liver instead of her appendix? Fahlman and Budlong, Attorneys-at-law, are her lawyers. Lloyd Fish has a 98% conviction record as New York's D. A. and Bill McKeever, Art Normand, and Howard Gardner have been listed among the ten best poets of the age. Elmer Baker just got back from a ping-pong tour in Europe, using the Pry line. Finelli, the artist of the day, has just finished his portrait of Alice Martin, the fashion model. Marshall Mayor, the funny book writer, left for Hollywood with Rita Cobb to play in a butler-maid role for M-G-M. Columnist Nancy Hess is writing 'My Afternoon' with great zeal. Dot Horton is a technicolor artist for Walt Disney. Ruth Hazard and Beverly Arnold own a fashion shop in Paris, having had the distinguished French actress Rita Champaigne, and Margaret Card, the stage producer, among their customers. Marjorie Siravo sold out her ice company to Phelps & Lepry, refrigerator dealers. Irene Padula owns a spaghetti place in East Natick. Roy Olson is Mayor of Natick and an agent for King & Blinkhorn, fruit dealers, of which Anna Main, Fran Lavigne, and Gloria LaPointe are apple sorters and Hope Stowe is secretary. Henry Aitken is principal at Bluebird Seminary and Esther Ahlquist is class advisor. Jim Leach is dog-catcher in fast-growing Warwick and is using his pole-vaulting experience to jump fences for his prey. Mary Meanerhan, Irene Gaydes, Frances Ciummo, Amelia Ise, Edwina Heritage and Lois Davidson are still stenographers for the large business concern of Heffernan, Hockenhull, Weiss & Martin. "Stu" Northup is a barker in the Lind, Lindall & Anderson Circus which features Winfield O'Brien, knife thrower, and Helen O'Brien, target. Dot Steere, Marion Briggs and 'Deb' Allen own an ice cream parlor down the road and run a date bureau on the side. By the way, did you see that Elton MacDonald, the mad scientist, has invented an automatic set of eating utensils for 'ole' folks? Editor Bruno Augenstein is Professor of Mathematics at Oxford University and a prominent figure in international affairs, along with Edgar Howard of the House of Lords. Ed Lawrence and Norm Langmaid officiated at the I. C. 4 A. track meet last week. Conchetta Papa, Mary Pacheco, and Gemma Tedeschi are social workers in the new Warwick City Hall. Aileen Watts and Winnie Hewins run a hash house across from Claire Healey's Style Shoppe. The operetta troupe of Frank Martino, George Currier, Lois Northup and Shirley Shapiro have just returned from their most successful tour. Blanche Tramonti, May McCabe, Doreen McKay, Tosca Santilli and Marion Smith are secretaries in the Potter Building. Dot Bertwell and Dot Hall own a girls' basketball team, whose record is 29 losses and 2 wins. Dick Grimwood is a floor walker in Selma Kaufman's department store. Lisa Cippola has the cutest little coffee shop, but no business. Vincent Carano, John Tedeschi and Joe Parente are trying to sell their last place hockey team to Hal Granquist, the eccentric millionaire. Helen Lawrence and Daphne Gammons of the '400' are giving a big social in honor of the big bank executive, Fred Brown, at the Babcock Country Club. Bill Rossi and his orchestra and Ed Johnson, the world's greatest violinist, are being featured in person at the Globe. Owner Charles Maynard of the Ziggly, Figgly Stores has been giving Charles Nathanson of the P&Q Stores keen competition these past few years. I saw Bill Izzi still walking the same beat the other night. Roy Johnson's clothes store caught fire last week and Dick Lavigne and Rus Wilcox, the two play-boy-volunteers, arrived just in time to put out the embers. Howard Card is a traveling salesman for Hazelwood Lotions and an animal imitator for WNAJ. Muriel Anderson and Rita Bender are agriculture teachers at Lockwood. Bob Bouchard and Maynard Bennett run a dance hall in Warwick. One night on their sand-paper floor and you have to call Vazna's Shoe Company. Ruth Odell is a postal clerk in the new Warwick P. O."

"Well," says Joe, "I've got to be going." As he drives away, a luxurious car swings in towing a 1935 peddler's truck owned by Aram Berberian. The occupants of the car are Ray Meanerhan, recent purchaser of the Avon, Capital, and Bijou Theatres and part owner of the RM&CG Chain Restaurants, whose wealth started when he won the Irish Sweepstakes in 1945, and Clyde Gray, owner of the Boston News and New York Sun and part owner of the RM&CG Restaurants.

"Hi, Jim!" exclaims Ray. "Just got you a customer. We're on our way to New York to close a deal for the New York Yanks so as to beat out the owners of the Boston Red Sox, Griffin, Lucas, and Guglielmo, for the pennant.

"I hear you hired Beth Munson and Dot Yanyar as cooks in your restaurants," remarks Jim.

"Yeah," replies Meanerhan, "And I hear Ken Howard and Ray LaPointe just got back with their big international story on 'Righteousism'. We saw Claire Perkins and Helen Pettigrew, traveling saleswomen for Leland's Women's Hats, on our southern trip, and stayed at the Grossguth, Burgess, and Macreading tourist camp one night."

"Why don't you close up and join us?" interrupts Gray. "Meanerhan's ticket sellers, Edna Jones, Claire Johnson, and Marion Lindberg, make more than you. Bill Chase for ten years usher at the Capital does, too."

"I guess you fellows are right. I'll get the $42 I've saved these ten years and leave. I'll miss it, though."

"Oh, yes, I nearly forgot Art Mason, that carefree lad, the last person of our class on W. P. A. He's a playground director in Buttonwoods."

1941 CLASS HISTORY

Back in 1935 when the first young, spindly-legged, wide-eyed representatives of our class of 1941 entered Lockwood as its first seventh grade, little did the rest of the Lockwoodites realize that these small children were destined to become members of one of the best all-round classes ever to enter Lockwood or any other school.

Since 1936 when over a hundred new classmates were added to the ranks of our class, all have been aware of the class of 1941; no one could remain ignorant of a class that boasts of more than its share of honor students, musicians, singers, actors, and athletes.

Now we are no longer spindly-legged, small children, but Juniors who are sure that under the able direction of our faculty advisor, Mr. Flanagan, our class will continue to soar in the estimation of others.

1942 CLASS HISTORY

In 1936 we entered this great school as merely the smallest pebbles on a huge beach, wishing that we had a good pair of stilts to enable us to get a good look at the "giants" who surrounded us on all sides. I guess we bothered everyone but we enjoyed it.

In 1937 we trooped back to school feeling important and wondering how we could have been so childish, a year ago. We strutted around with our heads high and were able to see the dignified countenances of the upper classmen by standing on our tip-toes.

In 1938 we entered dear old Lockwood as Freshmen. Now we were important?! This year we started off on definite courses. Now was the time to look into the future.

In 1939 we entered the same school as we had entered many times before; but though the school was the same, we were different. Remarkably different. Lockwood now housed a class of sophisticated and ambitious sophomores. We immediately entered the social life of the school and blossomed into dignified ladies and gentlemen. At present we are wondering what the future holds for us and how many of us are potential artists, but no matter what happens in the future we are assured it will be for the betterment of this distinguished class.

HISTORY OF CLASS OF 1943

Many exciting things have happened since the class of 1943 entered Lockwood three years ago. First, there was the fascination of entering a new school; then the panicky and nervous feeling which some of us had when we appeared on the stage for the first time; and the joy of hearing the audience applaud you.

Barbara Farr, George Leland, and George MacDonald have been active in dramatics, each year having taken part in our play for the Junior One-Act Play Competition. In the seventh grade we entered the competition with "False Pretenses" and in the eighth grade with "Sleepy". The class highlight of this year was the winning of the competition when we presented "Ghostly Picnic".

We have also been represented in gym exhibitions. For two consecutive years, Betty Aitken, from our class, won the title of having the best posture in the Junior High School. This year we were the "Champs" in the human croquet race for girls.

Music, too, has been the pastime of many students. We are proud to have in our class, one who sings so beautifully as Elizabeth Matteson; she has taken part in operettas, varsity revues, and other musical entertainments. Barbara Eastman and Francis DeLuise are outstanding members of the orchestra and band.

Now I have told you of some of the things which students have done while at Lockwood. Together with these things they have studied very hard. Although some students will leave us to go to the new school next year, we who will remain will continue to do all we can to make Lockwood proud of the class of 1943.

MARTHA-JANE EKSTRAND, '43

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1944

On October 3, 1938, we entered Lockwood, a group of bewildered pupils. Our attendance at school was delayed by the Rhode Island hurricane. After a month of settling down we began joining clubs and engaging in school activities.

At the beginning of this year 1939-1940, our class was enlarged by students from the Pontiac, Natick, Hillsgrove, Bayside, Oakland Beach and Old Warwick grammar schools.

We have already become participants in extra-curricular activities. We have enjoyed immensely our first two years at Lockwood and are looking forward to being the best senior class in the history of Lockwood.

SHIRLEY ROBINSON

CLASS OF '45

Although we have been in Lockwood only a short time, we have had many interesting experiences. In the fall when we came to this big school we were very shy, but that soon wore off. In April we were proud of our performers in our play "On With the Show." Many of our number have joined the junior orchestra and the band. In the future we believe that the class of 1945 will give a good account of itself at Lockwood.

Third Row: Fisher, Currier, Gallagher, Mason, Cockrane, Brown, Carlson, Blinkhorn, Finelli.

THE WARWICKITE

It is the aim of the Warwickite, our school paper, to record the athletic events, as well as school and class news. This year, our unusually capable staff managed the paper, which enjoyed an unprecedented popularity. The general quality of the articles was better than ever before, and we hope that the staff in future years will issue an equally successful paper.

THE DEBATING CLUB

The hopes for "a better debating club in the future" left by the class of '39 have been excellently fulfilled to match with the overpar coaching of Miss Wallace. More important of our activities this year are: participation in the R. I. Model Congress in which we had a very excellent representation, a dinner for impromptu speaking and other less important dinners and gatherings. Some of our more outstanding debates this year were those of the non-decision debate with West Warwick at home, and the debate at Aldrich in which we were the victors. Of course, we want to keep the club in full swing and we therefore take this opportunity to wish all future debaters the best of luck in all they undertake, and also to show our deep appreciation to Miss Wallace for her everlasting and serious effort to hold and maintain one of the best debating clubs in the state.

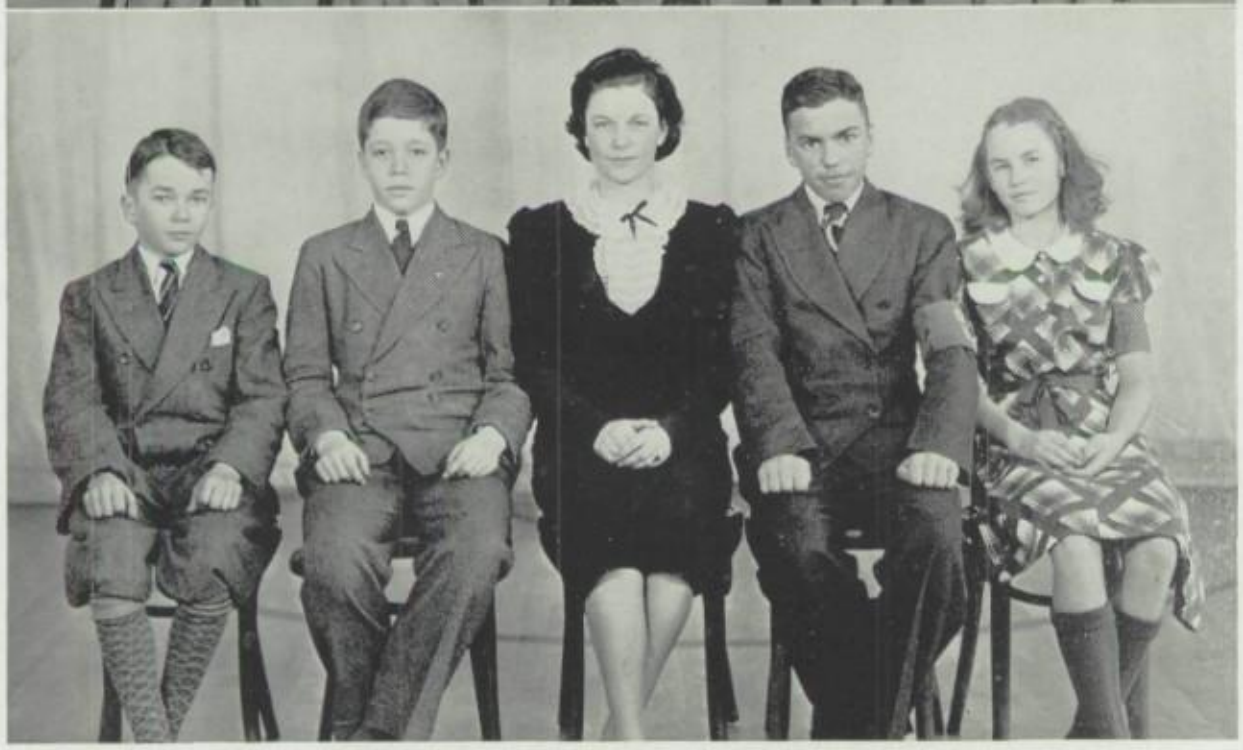
MASQUERS' OFFICERS

Y. Richard, G. Lester, Mr. Flanagan, A. Martin, R. Bender.



MASQUETTES' OFFICERS

Hobbs, Leland, Miss McCabe, MacDonald, Aitken.

THE MASQUERS

The Masquers, under the direction of Mr. Flanagan have had an exceptionally busy year during 1939. Among the important events of the year we find dramatics taking a place in the foreground. The faculty play came first followed by the Shakespearian Plays, and then the Thanksgiving play made history as the first student directed production presented at Lockwood. The Christmas play and the never-to-be-forgotten Senior play also rate recognition. Besides this, our meetings have been marked by the presence of exceptionally fine speakers with Arthur Feldwin of N. B. C. heading the list.

THE MASQUETTES

The Masquettes, the Junior Dramatic Club of Lockwood, has had five years of active existence. Under the capable direction of Miss McCabe, the club has put on several plays each year, the most important of which are the competition plays. This year, for the first time, the winning play of the competition was presented with a plaque, which will be engraved each year in the future in honor of the class presenting the best play.

The Masquettes presents to its members, an excellent means of gaining invaluable experience for the time when they advance to the higher grades and the Masquers.

Third Row: Lintlop, Mason, Hildebrand, Ellsworth, Leland, Macdonald.

GENERAL ORGANIZATION

It is the purpose of the G. O. to discuss under the able leadership of Mr. Schurman school problems and the policies of school life. Thus it serves as a bond between the faculty and the student body. Its members are chosen from each grade by the students themselves, thus insuring each group a voice in school policy. This cooperative form of school government has done a great deal in making the relationship between student and teacher a congenial one. We feel that this very able group deserves our highest praise for its efforts in behalf of the school.

GOOD WILL

This important, efficient, and indispensable organization commands a great deal of respect in our school. Its business, social, and athletic services are invaluable to the smooth functioning of school affairs. We hope that in future years as in the past, the Good Will Society will maintain its high level of effort and endeavor.

The club has its own dark room where enlarging, printing, and developing are done. During the past year the club has added new equipment which will be of great help in the future.

At the beginning of the club's meetings, the art of photography is learned, and then throughout the year various field-trips are held to show what has been learned.

The Girls' Leaders' Corps is an organization composed of girls who have proved themselves not only athletes and leaders, but also outstanding in character. THE SENIOR ORCHESTRA

One of the most active organizations in the school is the orchestra. Under the untiring direction of Miss Willard, it plays at assemblies and all other school functions. As part of its extra-curricular activities, some of its members participated in the Rhode Island and New England Music Festivals. The orchestra as a group participated in the R. I. Festival in East Providence, where all entries played for rating. The group was especially commended for stage deportment and general effect.

THE BAND

The band is one of the few organizations in school that has a mixed group of Junior and Senior High School pupils. Under the skilful direction of Miss Willard, the band has done its share of pepping up the pupils at many school activities. Warwick Night, Memorial Day, Armistice Day, and Thanksgiving Day were a few of the highlights of the year. Lockwood is and will always be proud of its band. We are very grateful for the splendid support and encouragement given our band by the public, and Warwick Post No. 24 American Legion.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA

Our Junior Orchestra, composed of 7th, 8th, and 9th grades, is directed by Mr. Marshall McClean. The members rehearse conscientiously and promise to develop into an orchestra which will be a credit to Lockwood. This year they have played at afternoon movies and junior assemblies.

RIDING CLUB

The Riding Club, although a fairly recent organization, has gained widespread popularity throughout the school. Under the guidance of Miss Burns, the club has increased greatly in membership and fame.

CAFETERIA CORPS

The Cafeteria Corps was organized three years ago at the suggestion of the General Organization. The students on the corps act as monitors, aid the pupils at lunch, and patrol the grounds and corridors. It is an organization designed to help the students with organization and authority. It is one of the largest clubs of the school, but its work is one of the most helpful. Mr Flanagan is the director of this worthwhile organization.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Farr, Raymond, Brown, Miss Daily, Larson.

PRESS CLUB

First Row: Farrar, Haney, Miss Wallace, Gallagher, Jackson.

Second Row: McCabe, H. Collins, M. Smith, Leland.

The Junior Red Cross has been organized for two years. This year it became a school club. We have given a movie this year. Last Easter we sent place cards to a hospital, and this year we are also making an afghan. Our few members have been very faithful.

PRESS CLUB

This year, for the first time, Lockwood High School has had its own publicity unit. At the beginning of the year the reporters, appointed by Miss Rosalind Wallace, began the difficult and complicated task of interviewing teachers and students about the activities of the various clubs and about special events. Belonging to the Press Club has necessitated attendance at all affairs and a great deal of plain hard work every day. As a result, however, Lockwood has received a great deal more publicity than before. We visited the Journal Building to see newspapers in the making. We've all enjoyed working in the Press Club and appreciate the cooperation of the teachers and students.

STATE COMPETITION PLAY

Lockwood's contribution to the Rhode Island Drama Festival held at Aldrich High School on March 30, 1940 was the play, "The Devil and Daniel Webster", by Stephen Vincent Benét.

This play, under the direction of Mr. Wedlock, won a place and therefore was one of the two plays to travel to Greenwich, Connecticut for the New England Drama Festival.

The cast is as follows: Henry Aitken, Yvette Richard, Lloyd Fish, Charles Nathanson, John Blum, Garth Whipple, Richard Waynne, Howard Card, Elton MacDonald, Vincent Corsi, Henry Gallagher, Paul Haney, Charles Maynard, Bruno Augenstein, Rita Bender, Peggy Fahlman, Nancy Hess, and Alice Martin.

N. E. DRAMA FESTIVAL

This year, as in many other years, Lockwood was fortunate in winning the Rhode Island play competition and was thus entitled to make the trip to Greenwich, Conn., the scene of this year's N. E. Drama Festival. Although Lockwood's presentation, "The Devil and Daniel Webster", by Stephen V. Benét, did not win a prize, the cast did very well considering the many difficulties which they encountered. Even so, many observers of the play series thought that Lockwood should have scored very high among the plays. Mr. Wedlock and his cast merit our heartiest congratulations.

JUNIOR PROM

On April 12, the Junior Class held its annual Prom. The setting this year was a nautical scene, with lighthouse, boats, and all the other trimmings. The evening was enjoyed by all who were present, and many thought that the decorations were some of the best in many years. All in all, the affair was a grand success. Mr. Flanagan and his class officers and the many committees are to be highly complimented for their splendid efforts.

THE OPERETTA

Under the very capable direction of Miss Willard, the annual operetta was presented on March 1 and 2. As is usual with anything which Miss Willard supervises, the presentation was a great success. The cast this year was well-planned and capable, and gave excellent performances. The production concerned itself with the comic misadventures of an amorous duke, very ably portrayed by Frank Martino. Others in the cast included: Lois Northup, George Currier, Claire Perkins, Margaret Card, Francis Currier, William Crowther, Gloria Tickell, Shirley Shapiro, Raymond La Pointe, Shirley Morgan, Donald Bouchard and Dorothy Hudson. The stage effects contributed greatly to the success of the performance, which, in the opinion of many, was one of the best ever put on at Lockwood.

FACULTY PLAY

The faculty play presented this year was "The Ghost Train", a three-act mystery comedy by Arnold Ridley. Under the able direction of William F. Flanagan, the presentation was greeted with great favor by a large and appreciative audience.

Those taking part were as follows: Miss Koralewsky, Miss Bourgaize, Miss Thayer, Miss West, Mr. Flanagan, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Fernald, Mr. Griffin, Mr. McGivney, Mr. Taylor, and Mr. Hoffman.

N. E. MUSIC FESTIVAL

Under the leadership of Miss Willard, several members of the music class and some members of the band and orchestra made the trip to Provincetown, Mass., to take part in the annual N. E. Music Festival. As in previous years, the group who made the trip made a splendid showing. Miss Willard helped in the direction of both the band and the chorus. The music was broadcast, thus giving us an opportunity to hear the splendid high school bands of New England.

MY THOUGHTS BY THE SEA

One summer day in bright July,
When I was down beside the sea,
I thought of all the water there
That touches many lands so fair,
And all the ships upon its floor—
Titanic, Maine, and many more.

These sunken ships all rot away,
With treasures rich and very rare,
Many a captain, cargo, crew
Who sought their fortunes on the blue,
While looking for some distant land
Perhaps they struck a bar of sand.

I thought of our land of the free
And Europe so deeply in war,
I thought of the loud cannon's sound
When ships are sunk and men are drowned,
Give praise to sailors out at sea,
Pity the lands that can't agree.

My thoughts came back to where I was
Beside the ocean white with foam,
It is a very lovely scene—
The great, vast ocean, bluish-green,
The sun is sinking in the west,
With nature's colors at their best.

I'm glad I'm not a sailor, then,
Or Drake who lost his ship at sea,
I'm glad I'm not a pirate bold
Who looks for treasures rich with gold,
But glad I'm in the U. S. A.
Protection, freedom, everyday.

THE PRAYER OF AN OLD WOMAN

Oh, Lord, oh God, I'm praying for
A long desired plan,
A little home upon a hill
For me and my dear man.

My man is ninety years of age
And I am near there too,
We both are very feeble, Lord,
That's why I pray to you.

We want a place where flowers will bloom,
Where birds will sing all day,
Where we can spend our few last days
Before we pass away.

So Lord, if you are listening,
We hope real soon to see
A little home upon a hill,
For my dear man and me.

ATHLETICS

THE REMINDER

FOOTBALL

The football team this year, which compiled but a low record, had a green and small but hard fighting team. Although it won only one game and tied one, the boys played well on all occasions and gave all who witnessed a fine exhibition of clean sportsmanship, if nothing else. The team's leader was Clyde Gray.

BASKETBALL

Despite its poor standing in the league, the Lockwood aggregation fought hard and played to its capacity, giving several teams big surprises, but lacked the deciding punch because of its scarcity of veterans. The boys regret their inability to win for their fine teammate and leader, "Chuck" Watkins.

INDOOR TRACK AND CROSS COUNTRY

After a year's absence, the cross country team again resumed its long duties on the hard roads, and although the boys were all newcomers, they ran hard in the few meets they entered. The indoor track team, lacking its fine array of stars of yesteryear, finished third in the State meet—as fine a showing as could be expected.

HOCKEY

The combined Aldrich-Lockwood team of Warwick played a fast, tight game and were riding high in their division until their playmaking captain, Bill Thayer, was injured and unable to finish the season; thus the boys were nosed out by one point for the play-offs, but were given much recognition by all.

GYM EXHIBIT

Giving one of the finest all-round girls' and boys' gym exhibitions of all times, the Lockwood gymnasts showed the spectators some fine team-work, co-ordination, coolness, and adaptability in all events they undertook. Miss Mitchell and Mr. Nordyke deserve a word of congratulations for all of their fine accomplishments.

BASEBALL

With the regulars of the infield and pitching staff back and several promising individuals out for the other positions, Lockwood's baseball prospects look good, and we should give a creditable showing in all respects, barring unforeseen developments. Last year's team finished low, but showed promise for this year.

OUTDOOR TRACK

With a little indoor experience behind the team and prospects high, Coach Nordyke should be able to mold together a pennant contender for the coming track season. Some have shown their ability and others have yet to reveal a hidden speck. Last year's squad, as usual, won all the meets.

GOLF

Mr. Carroll should have the best all-round under-pressure team of his reign, and with Simas, Coutu, Bouthillier, and several others back in line, they should have a very noteworthy season. Last season's team finished second in its division.

TENNIS

The tennis prospects at Lockwood look like the best ever, and the boys should sweep through most of their opposition; but time alone will bring out the facts. Last year was only a mediocre season.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Athletic Association includes in its membership the majority of Lockwood's student body and all of the faculty. The Association handles all matters pertaining to our school athletics, and handles by means of a governing committee of students any problem which may arise. The group headed by Charles Therrien, President, and Francis Currier, Vice-President, contains two members from each class. Faculty advisers are Mr. Schurman, Mr. Griffin, Miss Mitchell, Mr. Nordyke, and Miss Tillinghast, secretary.
